

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Georgia's State Chemist Praises
"Nature's Gift from the Sunny South"

J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering of Cotton Seed men, gave emphatic praise to the high quality of Cottolene. He said:

"The sale of this product and the proclamation that it is made of cotton seed oil have done more to bring cotton seed oil into the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out that a pure, refined, vegetable-oil product such as Cottolene, is the only assurance a woman has of a clean, digestible, cooking fat.

It seems a positive wonder in the light of all that has lately been said and written, and of what is known of lard, where it comes from, of what it may be made, that anyone will continue its use, when pure, sweet and healthful Cottolene can be so easily obtained.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

There are things that money can't buy I know.

Put still.

There's a heap of things we sigh for, though.

It will.

—Detroit Free Press.

We know a good joke on a farmer living not far from town. He had been having considerable trouble getting his eldest son out of bed in the morning. A few mornings ago he called several times and got no reply. He then cautiously stepped up stairs while it was yet very dark in the house and went to the boy's room. He pulled down the covers and administered a violent, old-fashioned spanking. Returning to the kitchen he informed his wife of what he had done. "Well, that settles it," she said, "we'll have to get a new hired girl. Willie didn't come home last night and I told the girl she might occupy his room."

—Cotton Courier.

"I'm afraid," said Deacon Harde-ty, shaking his head, "we'll have to take our new preacher in hand and straighten up his doctrinals a bit."

"Why, he ain't preaching heresy," is he?" asked Brother Keselanz.

"Well, he comes mighty close to it. When I asked him the other day if he didn't think that the upbraidings of conscience would be one of the worst tortures of the lost souls in perdition, he said: 'Nonsense, deacon! Nobody that has a conscience will ever go there!'"

Chicago Tribune.

The train stopped at the little Georgia town, says the San Francisco Chronicle, and the tourist sauntered out to the observation platform. "Rather likely pickaninny you have there, uncle," remarked the traveler, good-humoredly. "Named George Washington?" "No, sah," laughed the colored man on the baggage truck. "Dat chile's name am Petro." "Petro? Why that's a queer-sounding name for a pickaninny."

"Might seem a little queer to you, sah, but Massa Rockefeller was down here some time ago en gih me a quatch for totin his grip. Ah named de pickaninny in his honah, sah."

"But Mr. Rockefeller's first name is John." "Yess, sah; but you see dis chile's full name am Petroleum, en we calls him Petro for short."

"Little boy," said the big electrician, as he unpacked his tool kit, "your mother sen for me to fix her switch. Where shall I find it?"

"The little boy's eyes grew round."

"Sh!" he whispered cautiously.

"Mamma doesn't want nobody to know she wears a switch, but I guess you'll find it either on the bureau or on her head."

And ten minutes later the sounds that emanated from the woodshed told that there are other kinds of switches besides electrical and hair.

—Chicago News.

A Belgrade clerk named Velislav Simonovitch, on the strength of an increase of salary, telegraphed to a young lady of Leningrad and asked her to share his fortunes.

The regulation tax shows ten words for the minimum fee, and her answer ran:

"Yes, gladly, willingly, joyfully, de-lightedly, gratefully, lovingly, yes, yes, yes!"—Boston American.

When a wild looking big chap burst noisily into a downtown billiard parlor a day or two ago and glared eagerly about, it was easy to see that trouble was coming.

"Where is he?" he shouted. "Lem-me git hold of th' saved-off mug. I'll show 'im!"

Suddenly he spotted a short fat man who lurked in the shadow of the big stove, apparently anxious to escape observation.

"Come out o' there!" yelled the big one, and he made a rush for the other. Seeing he was cornered, the little man emerged from his corner to meet his opponent. Straight at him he went with a rush like those that used to electrify the ring followers of Terry McGovern, hitting out right and left with lightning speed. Before the big fellow could strike a blow he was smothered and overwhelmed by the shower of "wallops" that peppered his anatomy. Before any one could interfere it was all over. The big fellow lay in a crumpled heap and the little fat man had hurried out without saying a word.

The proprietor hastened over, helped the vanquished one to his feet, sat him in a chair, and handed him his hat. For a moment he gazed about in a dazed manner, then fell to weeping.

"Come, come!" said the proprietor.
"you're not hurt much."

"W-w-well, I know I ain't," sobbed the big fellow, "an' I wouldn't a

Louis Pierre was one of a num-settled at Fitzgerald, Ga. As he spoke both French and English, says the Circle Magazine, he rapidly became a man of importance, and was successively elected to the offices of city marshal, coroner and justice of the peace. A dispute arose between the French and English settlers as to the superiority of the United States over the Canadian provinces. They finally agreed to leave it to Judge Pierre, who handed down this decision:

S.S.S. THE REMEDY
FOR SORES AND ULCERS

There is but one way to cure an old sore or chronic ulcer, and that is to remove the cause that produces and keeps it open. No matter where located, any sore that remains until it becomes chronic does so because of impure blood; the circulation constantly discharges its polluted matter into the place and it is impossible for nature to heal the sore. S.S.S. heals sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of taint or impurity from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. No local application reaches below the infected flesh at the spot, and for this reason can have no curative effect on a sore or ulcer; while such treatment is being used alone, the germs and impurities are constantly increasing in the blood and the sore is bound to grow worse. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and enriched and purified the circulation the place begins to take on a more healthy appearance, the different symptoms show improvement, the flesh around the ulcer gets firm, new skin and tissues are formed, and aided by pure, rich blood, nature provides a perfect and lasting cure. Under the tonic and blood-purifying effects of S.S.S., the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be greatly benefited by its use. Book on
